

translating faith into action...

If you want to contribute, you may come and share your professional and life experiences with the children through our 'My Unique Story' concept. You may become the source of inspiration and motivation to them and who knows your words may ignite their potential. Nevertheless, your coming and sharing your bits only will provide exposure and will help in enhancing their personal qualities.

If the thought provokes you to substantiate itself, you can take the first step by providing necessary information about yourself.
